I. Introductions

The members of the committee and guests introduced themselves.

II. Review of committee charges & processes

Chair Marlesa Roney led a review of the committee charges and processes for FY15.

III. Dean's Update & Discussion

Dean Haricombe announced that she recently accepted the position of Vice Provost and Director of Libraries at the University of Texas at Austin. She has served as Dean of Libraries at KU for 8 years; her last day in the office will be Friday, December 12. Mary Roach and Kent Miller (now serving as Associate Deans) will share the role of interim co-deans upon Dean Haricombe's departure. She underscored that KU Libraries is well-positioned for the future and highlighted the significant leadership experience of Roach and Miller. She expects that a national search for a dean will be launched at a future point and has been asked to contribute to the position description. Dean Haricombe also praised her library colleagues, as well as noted her appreciation for Chair Roney's leadership and for the committee's role as an advocate for KU Libraries.

Dean Haricombe shared general information about KU Libraries faculty and staff and the six libraries on the main campus and the Annex facility on west campus. She also described the user-centered organization structure initiated in May 2013 as a result of a strategic planning process. She noted that KU Libraries has six active searches at the moment, which should be completed before December.

Dean Haricombe asked fiscal officer Shannon Royer to provide an overview of the KU Libraries budget (see attached slides), including a summary of sources and uses of funds.

IV. Consultant Model/Reorg. Update & Discussion

Assistant Deans Erin Ellis, Judith Emde, and Beth Whittaker provided information regarding the consultant model, a component of the recent reorganization intended to better capitalize on resources and new services to support teaching, research and learning at the university. The new structure is organized by services rather than by subject in order to ensure that we're best positioned to support the needs of faculty and students. Expertise is now leveraged in new, more purposeful ways.

They encouraged the following strategies to get assistance:

- If you have a contact within the libraries already, please feel free to reach out to that person. In some cases, that individual may connect you with another librarian or staff member better suited to assist you.
- Use a web form for library instruction requests (http://dept.ku.edu/~appslibk/instruction_class/).
- The Research & Learning division provides research support and will work with you to determine the best plan for your needs (<http://lib.ku.edu/research-help>).
- Contact Lea Currie (lcurre@ku.edu) as a starting point for collections questions.
- Send inquiries to Ask a Librarian (<http://lib.ku.edu/ask-librarian>)—they will be directed to the individual best-suited to assist you. For an overview of libraries services, see: <http://lib.ku.edu/services>
